Featured Products

G7L-X-SI

OMRON's G7L-X series is a 2-formA compact power relay capable of switching 20-30A, 1,000 VDC loads. This series now features a low contact resistance model to lower the heat generation for high DC voltage applications, G7L-X-SI. The G7L-X family is the highest DC voltage PCB relay within OMRON's portfolio and is an ideal candidate for the main disconnect product within Energy Storage and EV charger applications.

D2EW

The new D2EW switches are part of the smallest class in the industry along with the D2GW series (8.3mm×7.0mm×5.3mm) With an IP67 rating, (excluding terminals on terminal models) this switch is ideal for places subject to water spray or excessive dust. Additionally, the D2EW plunger shape supports multi-angle operation without using a lever, increasing flexibility in customer unit designs.
